Is the long-term future important for your patients with major depressive disorder?

Join us at ECNP in Barcelona for 2 satellite symposia

Functional recovery in depression: are we doing the right thing for the treatment of depression?
Saturday 6 October 2018, 12:30–14:00
Room 117, Centre de Convencions Internacional de Barcelona (CCIB)
Speakers: Bernhard Baune (Chair), Yanling He, Koen Demyttenaere and Mark Opler

From conventional antidepressant efficacy to real-world effectiveness
Saturday 6 October 2018, 15:00–16:30
Room 117, Centre de Convencions Internacional de Barcelona (CCIB)
Speakers: Pratap Chokka (Chair), Iria Grande and Andrew J Cutler
Find the agendas for our exciting satellite symposia below, which will each be followed by Q&A sessions giving you the opportunity to send your questions to the speakers.

Functional recovery in depression: are we doing the right thing for the treatment of depression?

Myth or fact: how can we achieve functional recovery in depression?
Yanling He (China)

Two sides of the same coin: do patients and physicians have the same expectations of treatment outcome?
Bernhard Baune (Australia)

Depression scales: are we asking the right questions to patients with depression?
Koen Demyttenaere (Belgium)

Teaming up with patients: together we can do better. How can we involve patients with depression in their treatment goals?
Mark Opler (USA)

From conventional antidepressant efficacy to real-world effectiveness

Traditional efficacy of antidepressants: does it reflect your long-term treatment goals?
Iria Grande (Spain)

Looking beyond MADRS to restore patient functioning
Andrew J Cutler (USA)

A case of workplace productivity in patients with depression
Pratap Chokka (Canada)

The European Accreditation Committee in CNS (EACIC) has granted 2 CME credits to each satellite symposium. To obtain your CME credits, fill out the evaluation form on www.eacic.eu.